

Solutions to manage your documents and content

Imaging technology is within reach. Streamline your business processes and harness the valuable information contained in your paper documents.

WHY OUTSOURCE YOUR IMAGING/DOCUMENT MANAGEMENT?

Management Focus - By outsourcing your document conversion to a reputable service bureau, your conversion can be accomplished in a worry-free, hands-off manner that will require minimal direct management oversight. Your management's efforts will remain focused on managing core initiatives, not on dealing with document management issues.

Reduced Total Cost of Ownership (TCO) - By converting your paper documents, you reduce the real estate footprint required for storage and outsourcing the conversion avoids large capital expenditures for hardware and software. Affordable access to world class imaging technology is yours on a pay-as-you-use basis.

Risk Aversion - There are many things that can go wrong, and the failure of even one component of the imaging solution can result in a total failure of the imaging project. Outsourced imaging services eliminate the risks inherent to in-house imaging projects, as you are expected to pay only for services.

Access to World Class Technology - By electing to outsource your document conversion and management requirement, your company does not have to worry about staffing issues or acquiring additional equipment. Outsourced service providers gives you access to world-class technology and expertise without the high initial costs of an in-house implementation.
